Cotton

Less activity with considerable irregularity in price movements featured the week end trading in cotton. After selling at 31.15, March reacted to 30.93 and closed at 30.94, or 3 points lower. and closed at 30.94, or 3 points lower. Other months closed 5 points higher to 11 points lower. October was relatively easy during the day on prospects for rain in the Southwest, which led to some selling from that section.

The warmer weather reported in the South was considered favorable in connection with water supplies for the Carolina mills, but there was some uneasiness over the fuel situation in New 12 England. Advices from both Boston and Fall River emphasized the shortage of coal, and Fall River reports said that many corporations were nearing the end of their supplies. It was the feeling among local traders, however, that the cotton mills will not be permitted to suffer from lack of fuel, as they are nearly all busy on government orders. Western goods distributers resported road sales for the week equal to those of last year, both for immediate and forward delivery. Spot houses with New England connections were reported among the leading buyers in the market here late on Friday, supposedly to hedge forward requirements. Few spot advices were received from the South, and no change was reported in the ocean freight situation.

The following notice was posted on the local exchange by President Shutt:

"The government having commandered the Bush Terminal independent stores, members having cotton there are invited to furnish to me at once a memorandum stating character, i. e., whether inspected or otherwise, and if otherwise, whether for export or for domestic consumption, and number of baler of each. Were small, owing in part to the fact that extreme weather conditions forced the closing of many of the large houses in the trading districts. An advance of 1 cent a yard was announced on some lines of branded obleached cottons, bringing the new price to a basis of 17 cents for Hope 4-4 goods. Brown goods and print cloths were offered less freely.

Buyers were trying to locate any stocks of napped cotton in first hands and were pressing agents to name prices on narrow flannellettes for a new season. There were several lines of cotton goods below the relative level of the market, including tickings, and several fine yarn fabrics. Advances in them are looked for. Urgent calls were

The Motors

D ID you notice the advance in motor stocks during the past week?

The publication of the DOW, JONES & CO. descriptive and analytical articles on "THE MOTOR INDUSTRY IN WAR" began Monday last, December 31.

Future articles in the series on the automobile industry review the motor output of American companies in recent years, and analyze individually the financial and trade position of the leading motor car manufacturers.

The fourth article in the series will appear on the DOW, JONES & CO. BULLETINS AND TICKERS MONDAY, JANUARY 7, and follow in

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

In view of the many changes in security values incident to the war, this is the time when shareholders should keep posted daily.

The facilities of Dow, Jones & Co. as gatherers of news and distributors of information for investors are unequalled.
